

The Arctic Hare

GOURMELON THIBAUT 3°A

The Arctic Hare lives in Northern America and in Groenland. It lives in very large groups (200 hares) and in a montainous environment where it's snowing during the winter.

This is why it has a white coat in winter and a brown coat in summer. The Arctic Hare has big ears, big hind legs to run faster. These features help it to survive in its environment because there are predators like arctic foxes, polar wolves and gluttons.

In the winter.

In the summer

THEIR PREDATORS

